Thursday, January 18, 2024

Dustin Schlachter, CEO and Chief Visionary Officer of OBIC, LLC, a leading supplier of protective coatings for wastewater, potable water, and industrial applications, announced today the promotion of Trey Hesselschwardt to Director of Corporate Training. “Trey has been an integral part of OBIC since it started. He has worked his way up from installing the product and has a good understanding of the business.”

Hesselschwardt has previously shared his responsibilities between OBIC and Advanced Rehabilitation Technology overseeing safety and certified installer training for many years. He will report directly to Dustin Schlachter. “Watching people grow, by giving people the proper tools and watching them implement them gives me great satisfaction” added Hesselschwardt. We need to add quality team members to support the growth of OBIC. I am excited to have this opportunity to be part of OBIC growth and to fulfill Dustin’s vision.
